Report of "MISSION SAHASI" Self Defence camp

The number of incidents of horrific atrocities has increased day by day in public places. Against this backdrop, students got the opportunity to take lessons in self-defence. To boost up the self-confidence among women and to make them prepare to fight-back, a 3-day “MISSION SAHASI: Self-defence Camp” was organised in Indra Institute of Pharmacy under College Women Development Cell.

The camp was commenced on 28th September and ended on 1st October, 2019 (5:30 pm to 7:30 pm). Mr. Suraj V. Bane, karate & martial arts black belt holder was invited to train the participants. He taught the girl students about self protection & techniques to defend. Totally 149 girl students learned the art of self defence.

Talking about the camp, the expert said “It happened a lot many times that I listened to few disturbing incidents happening with young girls and even elderly women. May it be the eve teasing or stalking, women’s face such situations because they do not know the proper mechanism to oppose. All these incidents forced me to taught self defence techniques to girls so they can learn to defend themselves from the goons.” However, many items like pins, bracelets, cosmetics near women can be used for self defence. He taught students how to use all these things in a simple way, demonstrating simple methods of self-defence.

This workshop was unique among self defence classes. It allows participants to practice full force self defence on actual people. They put on protective gear and let participants really hit them. The participants had experience what a real life situation is like, and learned that they have the strength to fight back.

Vote of thanks was proposed by Ms. Juhi Narote & Mrs. Madhura Lotankar and the programme was very well anchored by Ms. Samiksha Ambre.
